President Signs Civil Rights Bill

Ike Doesn't Make Any Comment on Law

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed into law the history-making civil rights bill empowering the federal government to enforce the right to vote with court injunctions.

The President put his signature to the bill—the first such legislation in 80 years—at his desk at his vacation headquarters here at 8:10 a. m. EDT.

Only a group of photographers and James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, witnessed the signing. Eisenhower used six pens. He issued no statement.

"I think the President's views on the bill are well known," Hagerty said in announcing there would be no statement.

The quiet signing came against the background of the tense school integration crisis at Little Rock, Ark. However, the civil rights measure Eisenhower signed is primarily a right-to-vote measure which has no direct bearing on that crisis.

Eisenhower signed the bill shortly before crossing Narragansett Bay in a Navy cabin cruiser for another round of golf at the Newport Country Club.

Before Eisenhower went to the golf course he got a fresh report from Hagerty on the school integration picture in Little Rock. Hagerty relayed the report after talking by telephone with Deputy Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers.

Four Members of One Family Killed in Crash

LONDON (AP)—A U.S. civilian imprisoned in Communist China on spy charges has been quoted by visiting Americans as saying he worked for the Central Intelligence Agency.

The British news agency Reuters reported in a Peiping dispatch Sunday that five U.S. students said the statement was made to them in a Peiping prison visit with Richard Fecteau, 30, of Lynn, Mass.

A spokesman for the CIA in Washington refused to comment. The prisoner's mother Mrs. Philip D. Fecteau has denied that he worked for the CIA.

Fecteau and John Downey, 27, of New Britain, Conn., both civilian employees of the Army, disappeared on a flight from Korea to Japan in 1952. The Communists repeatedly have accused them of working for the CIA.

Fecteau was sentenced to 20 years and Downey to life imprisonment. The Communists asserted they were shot down over Manchuria while dropping supplies to agents there. The United States has denied this.

Reuters said separate groups from the 41 young Americans on an unauthorized tour of Red China visited for 30 minutes each with Fecteau and Downey Sunday. The 10 visitors—five to each prisoner—later drew up a joint statement about the interviews.

The statement was released after a 17-hour delay, officially attributed to "difficulties in mimeographing."

The visitors were required to agree before visiting the prison that they would not ask Fecteau and Downey any questions about their trial or charges against them. They were forbidden to take notes.

The touring Americans may be allowed to visit other U.S. prisoners in Shanghai, Chinese authorities indicated. Two Catholic priests—the Revs. John P. Wagner of Pittsburgh and Joseph P. McCormack of Ossining, N. Y.—and businessman Hugh F. Redmond of Yonkers, N. Y., are believed under house arrest in Shanghai.

Fecteau was quoted as saying that he had intended to become a football coach when he enrolled in Boston University but decided he could not make enough money that way and went to work for the government.

The interviewers said he then was asked: "For the Central Intelligence Agency?"

They said Fecteau replied: "Yes."

He was quoted as saying he

North Lima Youth Injured In Crash

Richard Evans, 18, of North Lima, is in fair condition today in the Salem City Hospital with a concussion received when his car was involved in an accident on Rt. 165, one mile west of North Lima, Sunday at 5:45 p. m.

Patrolmen said Evans' car sideswiped an auto driven by Harold J. Hill, 58, of Youngstown. Mrs. H. J. Hill, 56, a passenger in her husband's car, was treated at Youngstown's South Side hospital for bruises of the leg and neck. Evans was arrested for reckless operation.

Faubus Backs Challenge With Fresh Guardsmen

Cornerstone Laid In New High School

200 Attend Program; Building Completion Set for March 1

About 200 persons witnessed the laying of the cornerstone of Salem's $2,000,000 senior high school Sunday afternoon at the school site on E. 6th St.

The ceremony was attended by members of the Salem Board of Education, Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, City Council President Curtis H. Vaughan, Architect Ray D. Dela Motte, local ministers and other Salem residents.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the High School Band. The invocation was given by Rev. A. Laten Carter, president of the Salem Ministerial Association. The benediction was by Rev. Fr. Richard Gaffney, rector of St. Paul's Church.

School Board President Alfred L. Fitch gave a short address preceding the cornerstone-laying ceremony.

A copper document box containing many specimens of high school programs, building plans, directories, local maps, school calendars, etc., was placed in the cornerstone for the information of posterity when the box may be opened at the demolition of the building. The box was deposited in the cornerstone by Superintendent of Schools E. S. Kerr who served as master of ceremonies.

The ceremony of laying the cornerstone consisted in having bricks laid by Fitch, Mayor Cranmer, and the following officers of organizations:

Earl Sulea, president Routhman Society; Leo Taugher, president of Knights of Columbus; Nicholas Budai, president of Routhman Church Society; Eugene Young, president Salem Rotary Club; Vaughan, Charles Vincent, president of the High School Parent Teachers Association, and Robert H. Heddlston, school board member.

In November, 1955 voters approved of $2,585,000 bond issue to finance the construction of the new senior high school and renovate the present high school building into a junior high school.

Bids on the new school were opened in December, 1956. The Salem Board of Education subsequently awarded contracts totaling $2,160,622 to four low bidders for construction of the school.

Freeman Construction Co. of Wooster received the general contract on bids totaling $1,525,000. Alterations desired by the board brought the general cost up to $1,594,888.

The new school will be a one-story building.

1,502 Persons Given Free Chest X-Rays

COLUMBIANA The 71st annual Columbiana street fair and homecoming closed Saturday midnight with a total attendance for the three days estimated at more than 35,000.

Later estimate of the Friday attendance is 12,000 on top of the 3,000 for Thursday, and 15,000 Saturday.

Afternoon crowds were replaced largely by new crowds in the evening.

The weather was favorable and all the concessions did a good business.

Firestone American Legion Post at its booths in the exhibit tent signed up 149 members toward its 266 membership quota for 1958.

John Ellis won a chair in the member canvas. The post aims to make its quota by Nov. 11, Veterans Day.

The women's auxiliary of the post signed up 127 toward its 162 quota for next year. The junior membership prize went to Robin

Jordan Receives First Shipment of U. S. Arms

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—The first U. S. arms were flown here today to begin a Middle East buildup against any threat from pro-Soviet Syria.

Jordanian officials and other dignitaries were on hand to greet the convoy of eight Globemasters and Flying Boxcars bringing recoilless rifles, jeeps, machine guns and ammunition.

Five Air Force Globemasters were the first to arrive over Amman.

U. S. Ambassador Lester D. Mallory was seated in the place of honor on a special platform with Deputy Premier and Foreign Minister Samir Rafai, Army Chief of Staff Habis Majali and the Jordan regency council. King Hussein is vacationing in Spain.

Eight jeeps mounted with recoilless rifles rolled from each of the five Globemasters. Another Globemaster and two Flying Boxcars followed.

The sixth Globemaster and the two Flying Boxcars which arrived carried a half hour later, carried 30 and 50 caliber machine guns and ammunition for the recoilless rifles—which are antitank weapons.

The sixth Globemaster and the Boxcars made the trip from West Germany via Baghdad.

Both Moscow and Syria charged that the United States has been plotting an attack on Syria, next door to Jordan.

Shortly before the scheduled arrival of the Globemasters from the United States the details of the air shipment were released.

Included were 40 jeeps mounted with recoilless rifles capable of knocking out tanks. No tanks were in today's shipments. The Soviet arms buildup in Syria has been reported to include a sizeable tank force.

The arms, flown from U.S. depots in Europe, are part of a 10-million-dollar military aid program to Jordan announced last spring.

President Eisenhower ordered a speedup of arms deliveries after leftist officers took over the Syrian armed forces in mid-August.

The arms are intended to counterbalance weapons the Soviet Union has been pouring into Syria.

Other pro-Western countries surrounding Syria are also receiving U.S. arms. Surface shipments are being made to Turkey, Iraq and Lebanon.

President Eisenhower said Saturday he hoped any possible Communist infiltration of Syria would not push Syria to aggression.

Jordanian officials had no official comment on the statement.

Says Federal Authorities Must Recede

Governor 'Sincerely Hopes No One is Shot' During School Crisis

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus backed his challenge of federal school racial integration orders with fresh troops today and dug in for what appeared to be the most serious state-federal crisis since Civil War days.

He said the only way he knew to break the stalemate between himself and the federal government would be for United States authorities to recede from their integration stand.

And, he said in a televised interview, the National Guard still operates with the same orders he issued after calling it up last Monday night on the eve of the opening of 2,000-pupil Central High School.

These orders, he said, are to keep Negroes out and to prevent violence.

Wednesday the guard turned back nine Negro students. None has sought entry since. Negro leaders say they have no immediate plans to send students of their race back to face the Guard.

With the governor's renewed challenge Sunday night, no compromise was in sight.

President Eisenhower has said, referring directly to the Little Rock crisis, that his aim is to uphold the United States Constitution. The Supreme Court in 1954 ruled that the Constitution does not permit forced school segregation.

The President also has said he does not favor use of federal force to implement integration orders.

This leaves Gov. Faubus with the only considerable physical force on the grounds, except for a number of U.S. marshals and FBI agents in Little Rock and city police.

After the interview Little Rock Mayor Woodrow Mann issued a statement that Faubus' words spelled sedition and the action in remaining resolute against federal authority amounted to rebellion.

Soldier's Wife Gives Birth to Triplets

BOSTON (AP)—In 13 minutes Sunday, the family of Army Sgt. and Mrs. Andrew Stetz increased from three children to six.

Mrs. Stetz gave birth to triplets. The 35-year-old mother, the former Margaret Reid of Milford, N. H., gave birth to a boy, 5 pounds, 13 ounces; a girl 4 pounds, 12 ounces; and a boy, 5 pounds 9 ounces, in that order within 13 minutes.

The couple has three other children—two boys, 7 and 5, and a 2-year-old Japanese girl whom they adopted when Sgt. Stetz was stationed in Japan.

The 39-year-old father is now stationed at the Boston Army base. He formerly was from Cleveland, Ohio. The family resides in the Dorchester district of Boston.

U.S., Red' Arms' Talks Seem To Be Conversational Joke

By JAMES MARLOWE

WASHINGTON (AP)—If one could watch the American-Russian disarmament talks from the moon—without loyalty to either side—they'd probably look like the longest conversational joke in history.

They've been going on periodically for more than 10 years. The latest in the series began March 18 and broke up last week. Now they'll be resumed in the United Nations. No doubt they'll continue for years.

Neither side wants to be blamed for refusing to talk disarmament. Each will try to get the maximum propaganda benefit from whatever it proposed and the other would not agree to it.

Each side in the recent talks laid down conditions which the other would not meet, although these conversations were aimed at only limited disarmament as a starting point.

During all these years of talking, both sides have been in a breakneck race to develop weapons capable not only of defeating themselves but of annihilating each other, if necessary.

The talks probably will continue until both sides feel they have reached a peak in their military-scientific development and have built up an arsenal which needs no more additions.

Then, if they do agree, it may be only on making no more weapons. It's unlikely, in their present state of mutual suspicion, that they will agree to destroy or give up weapons they've already acquired at gigantic cost.

In short, disarmament looks a long way off.

Both sides, for example, have raced to develop the intercontinental ballistic missile, which can travel unmaned 5,000 miles or more.

It could for instance travel from Moscow to New York, or vice versa, in about 30 minutes and, with its hydrogen warhead, wipe out a city. The Russians claim to have the lead.

They recently announced successful testing of such a weapon. That's more than the United States has been able to claim although it soon may be able to do so.

It is hard to think of this country or Russia giving up on the ICBM until it has fully developed this weapon, put it in full production, and then stored it in comfortable quantities.

The reason is plain enough: The country which has this weapon exclusively could terrorize the other. The same goes for smaller weapons which have shorter range or could be used in small wars.

In the end maximum armament by both sides — giving each the power to destroy the other—may be as good as disarmament in beginning a war in which both would lose.

That's a grim thought, and perhaps it makes for a lot more uneasy living than if both sides had disarmed a bit. Perhaps not.

The United States and Russia are at war now anyway—although

Aid-to-Education Upped By Proctor & Gamble

CINCINNATI (AP)—Proctor & Gamble Co. has upped its aid-to-education program to nearly one million dollars yearly.

P & G's outgoing president, Neil H. McElroy, Sunday announced the increases which take these forms:

A yearly grant of $20,000 each to Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Stanford, Northwestern, Chicago, Columbia, Cornell, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

A yearly grant of $10,000 to 39 state and regional associations of colleges and universities that have joined together for mutual fund-raising. The number of schools in each group will determine the sum each association gets.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thirty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H and stimulate it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONOID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripe; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions. It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98¢ for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2¢ per tablet.

"I know I need more Life Insurance, but how can I afford it?"

HAVE you ever had this thought?

Have you ever wondered how your wife could keep the family together if something should happen to you? This question faces most men while their children are growing up.

We believe that you will find the answer to this question in the Metropolitan Family Income Plan. This plan is designed to furnish the extra income needed to take care of your children until they have finished their education or are getting started in life.

The plan combines regular insurance with a special income provision which can be fitted to your particular circumstances and family needs. Here are some of its important features:

1. You choose the amount of monthly income needed—$100 a month, $200, $300 or more.

2. If you should die at any time within 20 years—while your children are growing up—the Metropolitan Family Income Plan will provide the income you arrange to be paid to your family each month for the remainder of the 20 years. Then the face amount of the policy will be paid in cash.

3. If you should live beyond 20 years, when the income provision is no longer in effect, your family will still have continuing protection for the face amount of the policy.

For your own peace of mind, why not get the complete details of the Family Income Plan from your Metropolitan Representative? He will be more than happy to explain it to you, and demonstrate that...

New CWA Strike Deadline Set

No Progress Reported In Contract Talks

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Communications Workers of America have set a new but indefinite strike deadline in contract negotiations with Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

Martin J. Hughes, Ohio CWA director, said Sunday night that a walkout by 18,600 Ohio Bell employees would coincide with any strike by CWA telephone installers currently negotiating with Western Electric in New York.

No progress was reported in either the Ohio Bell or Western Electric contract talks and no strike deadline has been set, as yet, for the 23,000 telephone installers in New York said a strike would effect 44 states.

"The installers bargaining committee in New York said a strike date would be set in the immediate future," Hughes said.

Negotiations with Ohio Bell continued Sunday past a 6 a. m. strike deadline. The old contract expired at midnight Saturday.

Hughes said locals agreed not to walk out pending the outcome of negotiations with Western Electric. With the exception of 115 employees at the Ironton exchange, workers stayed on the job.

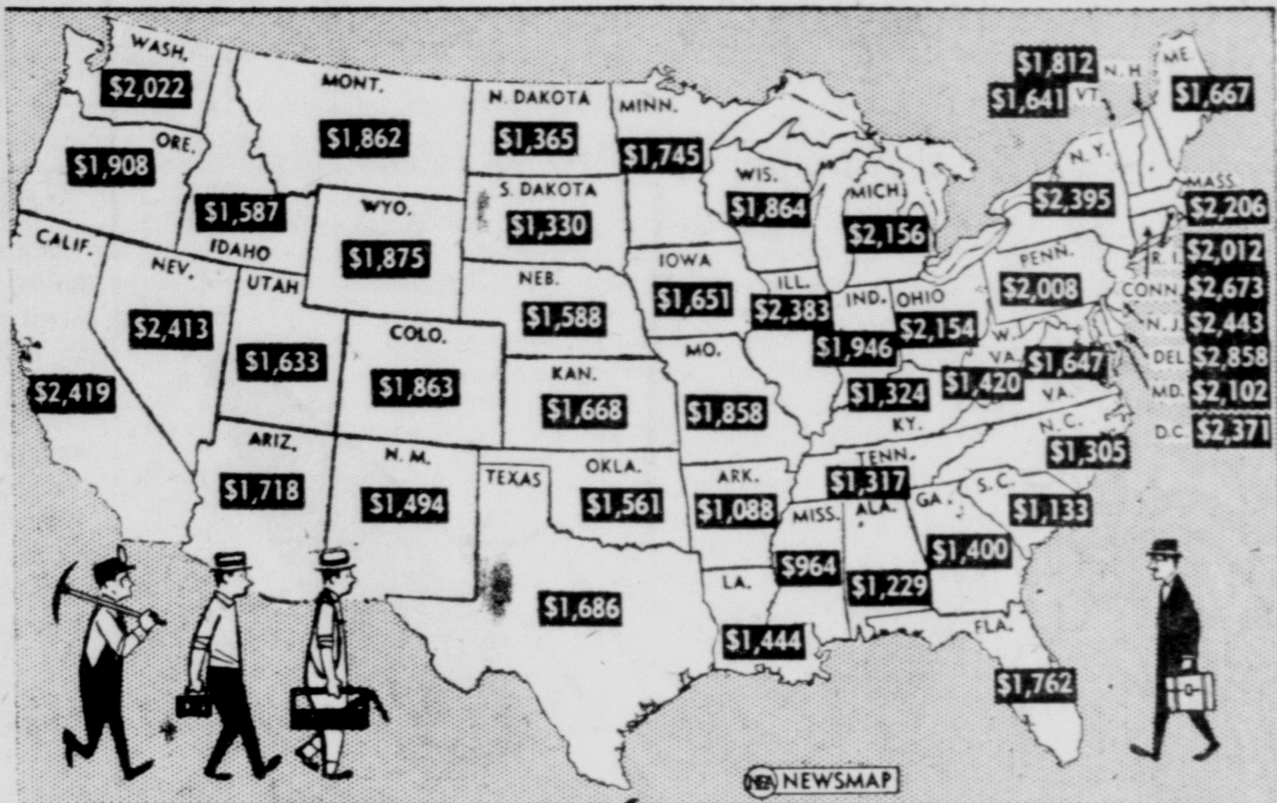

Explaining union strategy, Hughes said, "The Ohio Bell union bargaining committee would have greater negotiation strength if a strike were tied to one by Western Electric installers."

"Since Ohio Bell management acts as a messenger boy for American Telephone and Telegraph officials, negotiations are controlled directly from New York," Hughes added. Both Western Electric and Ohio Bell are subsidiaries of American Telephone.

Hughes said, following the Sunday recess of the latest meeting, that further negotiations with Ohio Bell would be useless.

"If they have something more to offer we'll go in," he said. He day recess of the latest meeting, scheduled for today, he said, and had no plans to attend. He added, however, that he would continue negotiations if asked to do so by the Federal Mediation Service, which entered the talks Saturday.

The latest offer, which the union rejected, as for a 15-month contract with pay raises ranging from $2.50 to $5. The company said the contract would cost five million dollars.

INCOME UP — Personal income in 1956 was about 7 per cent higher than in 1955 in nearly every state, according to a report from the Office of Business Economics, U. S. Department of Commerce. Per capita personal income in 1956 amounted to a record $1,940 for the country as a whole. By states (see Newsmap above) average incomes varied from $2,858 in Delaware to $964 in Mississippi. In addition to Delaware, others in the top rank — all with per capita incomes of more than $2,350 in 1956 — included Connecticut, New Jersey, Nevada, New York, Illinois, and the District of Columbia. The Territory of Hawaii (not shown) had a per capita income of $1,773. Personal income measures the current income before taxes, from wages and salaries, income from unincorporated enterprises (including farms), net rental income, dividends, interest, and such other items as social insurance benefits, relief and pensions.

In the 19 cities and 26 smaller communities served by the utility the proposed wage schedules would raise operator's rates to $61 to $70.50 a week, the company said. Top-rated plant craftsmen's scales would range from $105 to $115.50 weekly.

"In view of the size of the company offer, the unions attitude is hard to understand," Vice President Carlisle Miller said.

Hughes called the five-million-dollar figure "absolutely false." He contended that it would cost the company only $2,700,620 and would average out to a pay boost of slightly more than seven cents an hour.

He also objected to a company stipulation that wages would have to be settled before any discussion on fringe benefits. So far, he said, the only discussion has been on wages.

Ohio Bell pressed for continuation of bargaining Sunday, but the union demanded a recess, Miller said.

"Obviously the next move is up to the union," he added.

Pickets were standing by early Sunday morning in anticipation of a strike call but dispersed when informed of the decision not to strike.

At Ironton, however, employees refused to report for work. Carol Sue Dalton, vice president of the Ironton Local, said workers were unwilling to operate under a day-to-day contract. She said they also decided to stay out today but added that another meeting was called for this morning.

Management and supervisory personnel are operating the exchange but only urgent calls are being put through, an Ohio Bell spokesman said.

Presidents and Parties

Meade Alcorn, national committee chief for the Republican party, was quick to admit that Wisconsin voters gave the party a licking by electing a Democrat instead of a Republican to finish the late Sen. McCarthy's term.

But it remained for Democratic spokesmen to claim quickly that the outcome was a repudiation of the Eisenhower administration and specifically of Dwight D. Eisenhower as an individual.

This claim, had it been made only by Democrats, would be merely an attempt to discredit the leader of the political opposition. But it reflected a similar opinion among many Republicans who feel that the President has been unsatisfactory as a party leader, despite his personal popularity.

The question is whether Dwight Eisenhower or any president could have done the job of party leadership since 1952 in a way that would have satisfied all the diverse elements of Republicanism.

The answer is an emphatic No. The late Robert A. Taft, who might have been the Republican candidate in 1952 if a party convention had not lined up behind Mr. Eisenhower, would have had no greater success than Mr. Eisenhower has had. Nor Thomas E. Dewey, nor anyone else who was available for the convention's consideration in 1952.

Whoever was chosen to lead the party was destined to inherit its divergencies if he won. And the divergencies, as it turned out, were put on display most dramatically by the conflict which erupted into the open between the President and the junior senator from Wisconsin.

Voters in Wisconsin, whatever other motives they may have had in bestowing Sen. McCarthy's unexpired term on a Democrat, could not have been unaware of the flaw in the argument that the way to show confidence in President Eisenhower was to elect another Republican to replace a Republican who had no confidence in the President. The President was not at issue, but the Republican party was.

National Chairman Alcorn's post-election statement that Republicans will shape no victories in Wisconsin or anywhere else unless they forge a "united party dedicated to the defeat of the leftwing forces which dominate the Democratic party" was a rebuke to the Republican party and will be interpreted as such when it sinks home.

Trick of The Century

Independence for Malaya, though it may be little noted as an event of 1957, may rank as the best trick of the 20th century. If it works, it would be one of the outstanding accomplishments of the Christian era.

All the woes of Asia come together in Malaya, plus one of a special nature. Native Malays are outnumbered by Chinese and Indians, who do not have primary allegiance to the Malayan government or to Malayan culture.

Independence became an official British aim during World War II, while Malaya was occupied by the Japanese. Its terms have been worked out painfully. Not the least of the pain was the extermination of Communist leadership in a long guerilla war.

The game was made worth the candle by tin and rubber. Enlightened British leadership, starting while Winston Churchill was still prime minister, was able to see that these vital commodities could be kept in production only by giving Malaya independence. The alternative was to hold onto it as a colonial possession, fighting every step of the way and risking internal chaos that would make Malaya a push-over for Red Chinese conquest.

The trick of the century was for Great Britain to yield to the inevitable gracefully. If Malaya responds successfully to the challenge of the independence it once despised of having, that will be one of the high spots of the Christian age of mankind.

Toughest Combination

No more than a glimpse of the photogenic wife of the new senator from Wisconsin is needed to suggest the probability she had as much to do with electing the first Democrat in 25 years as the high-flown things the political commentators have been discussing.

Besides being handsome, Ellen Proxmire is politically knowledgeable. She was financial secretary and executive secretary of the Wisconsin Democratic party at various times before her marriage to William Proxmire. After she married him, she added her know-how to his ambition (he had been licked three times in the race for governor) and is credited by old hands in Wisconsin with one of the most astute jobs of political management ever witnessed in Wisconsin.

Mrs. Proxmire thus becomes the latest reminder that the toughest combination in politics is a husband who wants to run for office and a wife who knows how to help him over the rough spots. There are some exceptions, to be sure, but the sound rule in politics, as in crime detection is: Cherchez la femme. Freely translated, that means: Marry the right woman.

Way Out of Dilemma

Multiple Choice Plan Offered in School Fuss

Is there a way out of the "integration - segregation" controversy that would be acceptable to both sides?

David Lawrence

Comments on the following plan:
1. Each community would have the right to offer to the citizens the opportunity to choose whether ever schools they wished their children to attend.

2. The school board in each instance would provide a choice between three kinds of schools to be established in the community. One would be of the mixed category, another would be all-white, and a third would be all Negro.

3. Wherever school facilities were inadequate for the plan, the same buildings but different sections or floors or different classrooms would be used temporarily. This type of separate facilities was used in New Jersey until recent years to meet the needs of an expanding population.

UNDER THE foregoing plan, it would be necessary for each school board to wipe out residential requirements within a given city and to designate the schools to be attended on the basis of the applications to the three categories.

Where certain students would find themselves attending schools many city blocks away from a given residence, the city could assist by furnishing free bus transportation.

The plan is essentially one of voluntary integration rather than forced integration. It gives the parents freedom of choice.

The question naturally arises whether any such plan is in accord with the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States rendered in 1954.

This decision, however, did not require any integration. It merely forbade states to pass any laws that made segregation compulsory. It offered no objection to voluntary segregation or voluntary integration.

THE POINT will be raised that a Negro pupil might wish to attend an all-white school or that a white pupil might wish to attend an all-Negro school.

Would the local school board be acting lawfully in denying such applications? The answer that would be made on the legal side is that the state has a right to permit school boards to allocate pupils to any schools within their jurisdiction on the basis of the applications of their parents. But there would be no requirement that all applications must be granted, irrespective of facilities available or of the desires of parents that admission must be given to particular schools.

To put it another way, if a parent wants his child to go to a mixed or integrated school, this can be arranged, but a Negro parent who wishes to have his child in an all-Negro school will have the same rights as a white parent who wants to send his child to an all-white school.

THIS IS FREEDOM of choice for the parents and does not make the school authorities a party to any discrimination in the legal sense.

Actually this plan is to a large extent in effect today in Louisville, where the applications of parents that their children be sent to all-white or all Negro or mixed schools are granted or denied as a matter of convenience and not as a right.

In Louisville, the school authorities feel that, if facilities are not available and a parent's wish cannot be fulfilled, the student must go to the school assigned irrespective of whether it is mixed.

They have not been confronted in Louisville as yet with any demand that Negro students be admitted to schools in areas that normally have an all-white attendance.

The question of residence assists the local authorities in maintaining the existing composition of the schools, but the school board in Louisville recognizes it has not been given any legal power to remove residential requirements and assign pupils at will.

Whatever it does at present in pupil assignment is merely an accommodation so far as it is practicable.

SOME STATES are experimenting with pupil assignment plans and, where there is an obvious attempt to maintain only all-white and all-Negro schools, such devices will run into legal obstacles.

The real question is what will be ruled legal when a school board actually provides a mixed or integrated school, an all-white school and an all-Negro school, and gives to the parents a freedom of choice.

It would take very little change in existing state laws to adopt a modification of the Louisville plan so that parents or those who want mixed schools will be satisfied and those who want separate schools will also be satisfied.

It seems like a way out for everybody on a voluntary and not on a forced basis.

Alcoholism

There is perhaps little doubt that the world would be better off if alcohol as a beverage had never been discovered. But it has been, and millions of people all over the world have become so attached to alcoholic drinks that they are unable to stop.

Such people are labeled chronic alcoholics. It is this particular aspect of the drinking of alcoholic liquors which I want to discuss now.

Often the dividing line between the "social drinker" and the chronic alcoholic is not clear-cut. The heavy social drinker passes by imperceptible degrees into a state where he or she can no longer "take it" or "leave it alone," as they usually claim, but must continue to "take it."

The victim of the alcohol habit usually thinks he can stop at the proper time or feels sure that a small glass of wine or beer would do no harm. When he gets it, however, he keeps on taking just one more drink until perhaps he ends in the police station, the gutter or the morgue.

No one knows exactly why some people develop this craving for alcohol and the inability to stop. Alcoholism is not inherited, but some claim there is a family tendency to it.

As one man said, "Alcohol is an extremely effective agent for roiling blurring and softening the rigid and forbidding outlines of reality."

As time goes on the person headed for chronic alcoholism seeks to shut out his troubles more and more often in drink. It is an escape. It is also a defect of personality and reflects an unwillingness or inability to face up to the troubles of the world.

Many students of the subject consider chronic alcoholics as sick people and the alcoholism as a symptom of the condition which caused the person to take to drink, just as a fever is a symptom of pneumonia.

Unfortunately, there is as yet no thoroughly satisfactory treatment for the chronic alcoholic. Under careful supervision some have been "cured" by a method which leads them to develop an aversion or distaste for any drink containing alcohol.

Hypnotism has also been tried with some success. Electric shock treatments are under study. An organization of ex-alcoholics called "Alcoholics Anonymous" has often succeeded when other methods failed.

Politics Delays Partnership

By RAYMOND MOLEY

LOS ANGELES — Congress adjourned with several useful reclamation and power projects unnecessarily stymied. Reason for this can be squarely laid at the door of public power zealots in Congress who are willing to deny their constituents needed power and water rather than to agree to the administration's partnership policy.

One case is the Trinity River project in northern California.

This plan is designed to build large reservoirs on the Trinity River in the far north of California and to carry the water through tunnels over to the Sacramento River somewhat below the Shasta Dam, and thus provide additional supplies for irrigation and other purposes in the valleys below.

The falling water, on its way from river to river, would be usable for the generation of a large supply of electric power.

THE FEDERAL government has authorized and is building the project. The Pacific Gas and Electric Company, with very large operations throughout northern California, has offered to build and pay for the power facilities, to pay full value for the falling water involved, and to distribute the power to customers through its regional system.

This proposal, it seems, is a perfect example of the President's partnership policy, with equitable treatment of all parties concerned. After study, the secretary of the interior last February reported to Congress that the P.G. & E. plan met his approval.

He pointed out that the company's plan would provide 165 million dollars for the government in project revenues over the 50 years of life of the project, as well as 135 million dollars in federal, state, and local taxes. It would also save the nation's taxpayers an additional 56 million dollars on the total cost of the project.

But opposition to the idea was immediately voiced by certain newspapers, by Chairman Clair Engle of the House Interior Committee, and, to the surprise of many, by Republican Sen. Kuchel.

Subsequently, Secretary of the Interior Seaton revised his estimates somewhat, but without any material change in the public benefits of the P.G. & E. plan.

THE OPPOSITION's claim rests upon an alleged increase in the cost of power to the so-called preference customers in the region.

This means those public agencies which are getting power from the greater Central Valley electrical installations.

Such agencies are tax free and they get their power at what is really a subsidized price now. The price charged by the P.G. & E. is, of course, strictly regulated by the State of California. Thus there is no gouging in that direction.

Sen. Kuchel interposed a curious objection. He said that if Congress should approve the federal P.G. & E. partnership plan, it would be necessary to repeal the preference provision in the entire Central Valley project.

Since the preference clause is regarded as a holy of holies by public-power advocates, this would be treasonable. In this case the so-called preference customers might, if they had wished, have applied for the privilege of building the power plants in the Trinity River project themselves. None of them did so apply.

Their claim in this case is that the federal government is under some sort of solemn obligation. It is the recognized policy of the government that there may be leases or licenses to private companies as long as no public power authority turns up with the means and the wish to secure the rights itself.

MOREOVER, the people served by the P.G. & E. in this instance are California citizens, just as much entitled to the benefits of a federal project as those who happen to live in a city or other community served by a public-power agency.

The rapidly growing area served by P.G. & E. needs the additional power.

The big Central Valley project would profit from the revenue paid by P.G. & E. for the temporary use of the water. And certainly the nation's taxpayers would welcome paying 56 million dollars less for the project — an amount supplied by private investors under the P.G. & E. plan.

However, Chairman Engle, who is said to be eyeing the seat to be vacated by Knowland next year, has apparently determined to make an issue of the case. And so the legislation has gone over to next year, when there will be protracted hearings.

In the alleged interest of the public, that same public is denied a service it needs.

Late TV Movie

By DAN M. BELDEN

(Editor's Note: Some of T. T.'s friends have written vacation columns for him this year. Today's essayist is a lawyer.)

The other night, having napped after dinner, I stayed up to watch the late movie and ended up in a state of acute shock and high indignation at the absurdities I was subjected to by the advertising managers of the various sponsors of the programs.

We started off with a "dramatic sketch" showing stomach acid eating a huge hole in a handkerchief. I never heard of the antidote that was being advertised, but I don't put stomach acid, or starch either, on my handkerchiefs, and to the best of my knowledge, I don't have acid holes in my digestive tract, despite the fact that some of this acid must be there, so they wasted their time on me.

We got into the movie, and just as the second corpse was discovered, I got hit with a beer ad, which only made me thirsty—and I don't keep that kind of beer in the house—followed by a roll-on deodorant. The ball point pen people, it seems, have a lot to answer for.

We then went back to the picture, and two fires and an automobile crash later, just as I was picking up the story line again, the picture faded and on came lovely young creature in a hammock, dressed in a low-cut summer frock. Much to my surprise, she told me, in a Southern accent, all about a new permanent wave solution whose sole claim to fame, apparently, is that it is easy to apply and she was lazy and tired. She was followed by a station break and a plug for a car wax that so amazed me that I almost got up to set fire to some gasoline on my fender to see if the wax I use would resist fire like the one in the ad. I resisted the urge because the neighbors think I am peculiar enough as it is.

We then got back to the show. After a kidnapping and an attempted poisoning, all of a sudden there was some oily-looking man on the screen telling me how to unblock my internal plumbing, and the sketch of my internal plumbing looked just like the underpart of the kitchen sink. I deny that we were all designed by kitchen sink manufacturers and I resent them trying to foist off such an idea.

By his time, I had almost forgotten which of the people in the movie had been killed and who was the bad guy and the good guy, and I wasn't helped any by a flashback to the war and a scene in which a whole regiment was wiped out, with one exception, by the Germans, only it turned out that one of the dead ones wasn't dead after all and had sneaked away determined to kill the only survivor whose loose talk in the pub had tipped off the cross-channel raid to the Nazis. They, efficient characters that they were, got all but two.

Well, just as I had this all clear, the scene switched back to the bad guy, lurking in a dark doorway in a dark alley, on a dark and misty night (this was a British late movie), prepared to stab the good guy, who hadn't had such a loose lip after all, but was taking the rap for his no-good brother, and bless my soul, all of a sudden there was a girdle, of all things, floating around the screen, with no one in it, but someone talking about how good her back felt while wearing this girdle.

Then we switched to a used car ad, which offered incredible bargains to anyone who called right then—at 1:20 in the morning! Anyway, the bad guy didn't kill the good guy, and when the former learned that the latter wasn't the rat, but his kid brother was, and that he brother had been killed in the raid, he went on his way unpunished, because the British take a much more sensible view of that sort of thing than we do, and they also are more realistic about commercials—they only have them on one network, and I hope that one is losing money.

I'd rather write a daily column than watch another late movie on television.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Thoughts on a Coming Battle

"Sugar Ray" Robinson will fight Carmen Basilio, further hassles excepted, and is reported economically fit and ready, with one of the best last quarter earnings statements of 1957.

He has trained hard in some of the larger law libraries and has followed the rugged routine provided for by Dow-Jones.

"I am ready," he declared as his legal staff skipped rope for him, "for the best financial expansion of my career. 'He can't miss,' said his business advisor, punching a bag vigorously.

THERE WAS a report that "Sugar Ray" had been knocked out in a bout with one of his executive staff, but this was denied.

"We had one pretty rough round staged for my board of directors and at one time I was dropped to one knee by a clipping from the Wall Street Journal, but I was not hurt," he said.

"SUGAR RAY'S" daily grind begins when the alarm goes off at 5 a.m. He springs swiftly out of bed, rebukes the alarm-clock maker and threatens to call off work the rest of the week.

He is pacified by a steak breakfast, a perusal of the closing market prices and a reading of the U.S. Treasury statement.

He then does his roadwork insisting that it take place over a new billion dollar highway instead of the old country road. An attempt to get him to do a few miles on the rural road is met with threats of litigation.

He then returns to quarters, answers letters from the revenue department and puts in an hour of grueling conversations with his economists.

Lunch is followed by a nap. He leaves orders nobody is to disturb him except Midas.

This is followed by stiff shadow boxing, which is highlighted by a sudden and dramatic charge that his shadows are not getting the legal protection expected.

He punches the bag again but calls it off to phone his attorneys that the bag is not the one called for in Paragraph IV, Article X. They advise him to stop bag punching and do some more roadwork. He agrees to do this if it is specified that the road will pass the courthouse and the local Law Library. He wants it in writing.

THE SITUATION with Carmen Basilio is somewhat different. Basilio's camp exudes a mood of what seems comparative destitution. In his workouts he seems unhurt by the money situation but is extremely nervous and keeps asking his seconds to check and see if Sugar Ray has made any new threats to call everything off.

He confines his training to the orthodox routines with no intensive bookkeeping and no complaints that he is denied push-button legal assistance.

In fact he trains without any help from the American Bar Association and permits no J. P. Morgan men in the camp. He seems calm and cool except when Robinson's name is mentioned.

This should go down in history as the BATTLE OF THE "PERCENTAGE." There will be a preliminary contest between two fleets of Brinks' armored cars. To your corners, and come out calculating!

WE CAN'T HELP wondering if Molotov will send Khrushchev a postal from Outer Mongolia, saying "Having a wonderful time. Wish you were here."

All of the dear little kids will be thrilled to know that homegrown spinach now is being picked.

Mos women say they have few clothes to speak of, but, whatever they have, they enjoy speaking of them just the same.

If people would just stop to think they'd never think of saying some of the things they do.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

From out of the southland comes the birth of new blues for the nation's harassed labor chiefs. Call it the rank-and-file blues. Millions of unionists are restless, disturbed, wondering if they have been led by men devoted to the inner circle instead of to them.

With the honest union leaders trying to handle the hottest crisis since John Lewis first took a walk, many a local labor official has developed delusions of grandeur and a "meet-me-on-the-barricades" bluster.

This means strikes and tough, damaging walkouts which can spread like Asian flu.

The wildcat epidemic has begun. It has hit at the pulsing heart of the land — the electric power in industry. It threatens to darken many a city — a hundred cities, to be specific, between now and the end of the year.

IT HIT FIRST in the South while most of us were covering the rackets or flying across continents. It hit the Florida Power and Light Co. on July 3. Members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers wanted a plant supervisor fired. He had a 30-year record with the company. There was a wildcat strike, the first in the public utility field in decades.

Some of the men sat in the plant. Some simply refused to work. Others picketed the Fort Lauderdale plant.

The state's two U.S. senators stood by, along with Pentagon officials, ready to introduce emergency legislation in the Congress up north.

For some 10 days the Pentagon fretted. This company supplies power all the way from Miami to the land — the electric power in industry. It threatens to darken many a city — a hundred cities, to be specific, between now and the end of the year.

We have a timetable which could have been disrupted if power lines failed somewhere along the road.

BUT THE GOVERNOR, Leroy Collins, intervened. The national union leaders, Gordon Freeman and Joe Keenan, roared. The wildcat ended. But it was a warning. The regional leaders would be back.

They wanted a seven per cent increase—18 cents in a field where the average is a nickel increase. No pajama game this. There's high voltage here.

The contract is now being discussed. Industry and labor people I've just talked with say that some parts of southern Florida may go dark suddenly.

So many scores of cities in Alabama. There, the Alabama Power and Light Co. was struck by an other IBEW local — counseled by the same legal mind now brain-trusting the Florida utility union—Joe Jacobs of Atlanta.

The Alabama Power and Light Co. strike ended the other week only after the national union president telegraphed a tough warning to his people not to paralyze the state.

Such a day would be known as the day Alabama stood still but it would also be known as the day an angry nation would scream that it had enough.

Now contract negotiations between the local unions and the utility have broken off. Once again observers say that some of the nation's biggest steel and experimental defense installations may suddenly stop pulsating.

A TRIKE may break at any minute, despite its discouragement by the national leaders.

Alabama Power and Light covers the state's biggest cities, from Mobile to Birmingham and many points feeding into Huntsville, where some of the world's weightiest brains are working on the world's weightiest weapons — missiles.

From Kansas City, Mo., home of Kansas Power and Light, to the high voltage Niagara-Mohawk Co., which rushes power into the heavy concentration of steel, aircraft, tool, auto and some secret weapon plants, there's tough bargaining at the tables. Everywhere there is talk of strike.

Between this day and New Year's day, some 100 public utility contracts expire, as have those in the South where FBI men were alerted to head off a neurosis known as cable-slashing, which affects some people when a plant is shut down and there is little to while away the time.

THE BEST—The little town of Peebles, Ohio, total population 1,600, will play host to the World's Plowing Match Sept. 17-20. Among the many signs erected to welcome the expected 300,000 visitors is this one extending the welcome of Night Bloomers Garden Club. The O.A.G.C. on the sign means the Night Bloomers are members of the Ohio Assn. of Garden Clubs.

Since there are about 40 electric utility contracts across this land, 10 expirations means that fully 25 per cent of the nation's power may per cent of the nation's power may sometime this year.

WHAT DISTURBS observers is the militant barricade mentality of many local leaders. Surely there are grievances. Surely the regional chiefs have a right to ask for more money.

But this union has traditionally been a responsible force in the public utility field. The power in the national leaders' hands has never gone to their heads.

Obviously the local leaders believe this is the time for defiance. Everybody's looking elsewhere. Not only in the electric industry. There are power plays coming in all fields.

Woman Halts Soccer Game After 38 Minutes

BROTTON, England — The weekend soccer game between Botton Recreation and Whitby Albion goes into the records as "abandoned after 38 minutes."

Why?

Mrs. Phyllis Craven wouldn't give them their ball back.

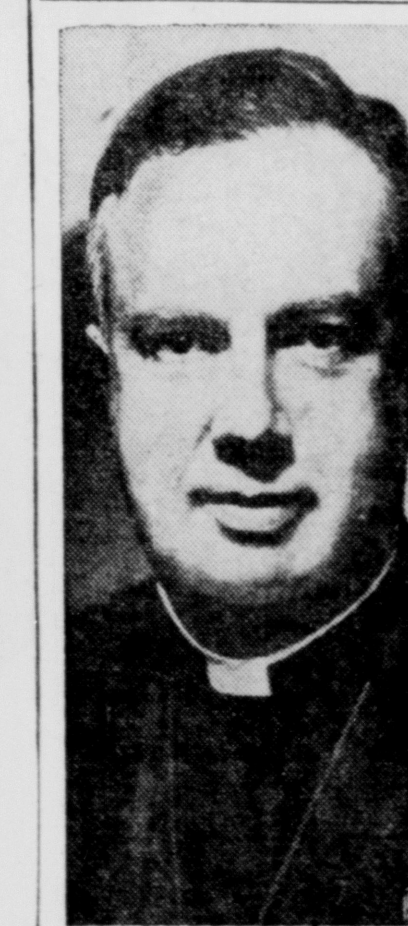

The ball sailed off the field into Mrs. Craven's adjoining garden. She kept it despite the pleas of the 22 players and two policemen.

"You may think I am an old cat," gray-haired Mrs. Craven told a reporter, "but I have been suffering this for four seasons and I made up my mind I was having no more."

MAN SHOT, KILLED

CLEVELAND — An unidentified man, about 30, was shot and killed Sunday night by a restaurant owner who said the man threatened him with a knife.

Marcellus Gray, 47, owner of the restaurant, said the victim was asleep at a table. When he finally managed to awaken him, the man pulled out a knife, Gray said. Gray is being held by police for investigation.

CHURCH HEAD — Dr. Franklin C. Fry, 57, of New York, has been elected president of the Lutheran World Federation. He's the first American to head the organization.

Pythian Sisters Give Card Party

WASHINGTONVILLE — Seven tables of cards were in play at the benefit card party sponsored by the Pythian Sisters Tuesday evening. Mr. James Alcott of Youngstown and Mrs. Carl Varian of Leetonia won high score in "500." Mrs. James Alcott of Youngstown won the door prize and Mrs. Varian won the special prize. Mrs. Maude Berger won the traveling prize. The temple will sponsor another card party in two weeks.

Mrs. Dale Wiley of Farmington, W. Va., has returned to her home after visiting in the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Atkinson.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Riddle spent the weekend visiting with relatives in Lorain.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nease of Alliance and Miss Mary Nease of Huntington, Cal. were dinner guests Thursday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grindle.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Heaton Jr. and family of Woodbine, N.J. returned to their home after spending Labor Day weekend in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stouffer.

David Deffenbaugh and Louella Lodge of Leetonia were Wednesday evening guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Deffenbaugh.

The Knights of Pythias will sponsor a benefit card party in their hall Monday evening, "500" will be played and lunch will be served.

Girl Slips on Ledge, Plunges to Her Death

PROVO, Utah — Linda Baker, 18, of nearby Springville, Utah slipped on a ledge Sunday and plunged 800 feet to her death as onlookers watched helplessly.

The girl's body was recovered from Bridal Veil Falls at the bottom of the cliff.

Linda and four other young hikers were climbing on the cliff above the falls when she slipped. Her body struck Lynn Powell, 23, Levan, Utah, who tried to catch her.

He recovered his balance just in time to prevent his following Linda.

New Alexander

Mrs. Lillie Todd and Homer Hartough of Canton called this week at the Lena Summer and Raymond Summer homes.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Schandel, John Schandel and Helen Guthrie attended a birthday party for Cindy Walter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walter of Minerva Sunday evening.

Mrs. Allie Clark entertained the Jolly Nine Club Thursday at her home. Dinner was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. P. C. Woolf. Plans were made for the annual dinner to be held Sept. 19. Mrs. C. G. Mason and Lena Summer will entertain the club Oct. 3.

A family party and wiener roast was held Thursday evening at the Christian Church. Mrs. P. M. Schandel and Mrs. Clem Mason had charge of the sports.

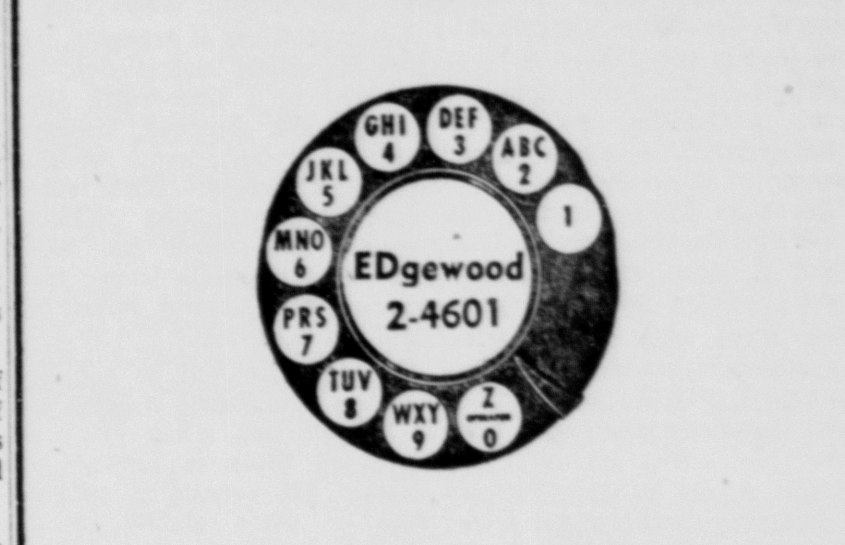

MRS. EVELYN HANEY of North Hollywood, Cal. visited recently with Mrs. Laura Emmons.

Mrs. Charles Parcells and Frederick Parcells of Chicago, Ill. and Mr. and Mrs. R. Everett Summer and family of Tjeras, N.Mex. are visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Summer.

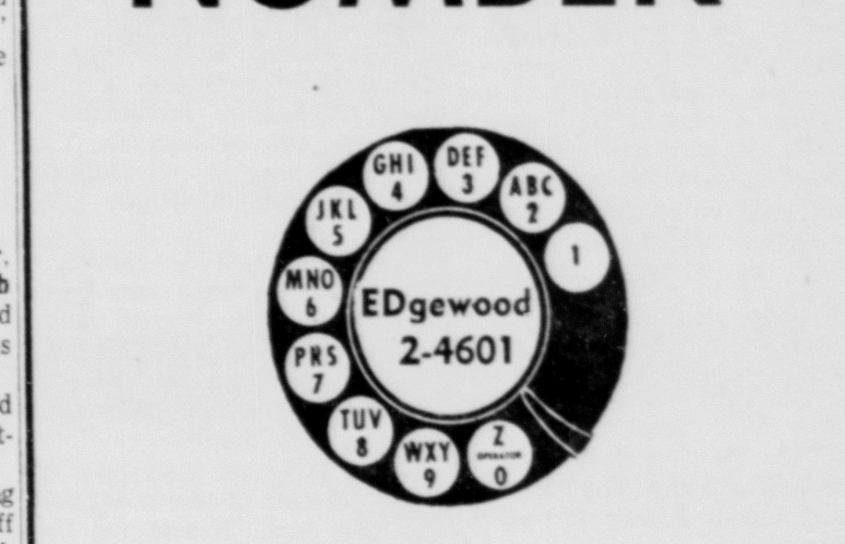

The Loyal Sisters held their monthly meeting at the Christian Church. Mrs. Donald Cooper and Mrs. Arthur Wickersham had charge of the program. Mrs. William Carle conducted the study period. Lunch was served by Mrs. Fred Hahlen and Mrs. Ross Sanor.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Norris and family spent the weekend with the former's parents in Cambridge.

Miss Martha Weir Becomes Bride of Wayne Richard Amos

Officiating at the Saturday evening wedding of Miss Martha Jane Weir and Wayne Richard Amos was the bride's uncle, Dr. Raymond W. Hubbard of Columbus. The double ring ceremony was performed in the First Methodist Church in Cuyahoga Falls. The nuptials united in marriage the daughter of Mrs. Paul E. Weir of Cuyahoga Falls and the late Mr. Weir, and the son of Mrs. Wilbert R. Amos of RD 1, Hanoverton and the late Mr. Amos.

Pink asters, white gladioli, ferns and huckleberry entwining the candleabras formed the altar setting where the couple exchanged their vows.

Edwin Aluzas of Des Plaines, Ill., fraternity brother of the bridegroom, sang "The Wedding Prayer," "Until" and "Walk Hand in Hand." He was accompanied by the organist, Mrs. Helga Lepp. Lewis M. Nixon of Arlington, Va., gave his cousin in marriage. She appeared in a floor-length gown of white silk shantung, fashioned with a full skirt, scopp neckline and short sleeves. White velvet edged with scalloped shantung trimmed the midriff and waist, and ended in points in the back accented with bows of velvet. She wore matching mitts.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to a Juliet cap of Belgian lace which the bride purchased while in Europe last summer. She carried an arrangement of white orchids, pink sweetheart roses and ribbon streamers on her white Bible.

Gowns styled identically to the bride's were worn by her attendants.

The maid of honor, Miss Kathleen Kosar of Cuyahoga Falls, was attired in a gown of dusty rose silk shantung trimmed in deeper rose velvet.

Miss Carol Amos of Hanoverton, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Marilyn Conrath of Boardman and Mrs. Edward Perkins of Evanston, Ill., college roommates of the bride, were bridesmaids. Their frocks of peacock silk shantung were trimmed in deeper green velvet.

Crescent shaped headbands of flowers and ivy were worn by the attendants. They carried wicker baskets of green and pink tinted daisies, pink sweetheart roses and ivy, tied with velvet ribbon which matched their dresses.

Arthur O'Neil of McDonald, fraternity brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Harold and Paul Amos of Hanoverton, brothers of the bridegroom, and Alfred Bruey of Cleveland, cousin of the bridegroom, were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Weir chose a poudre blue lace with matching linen coat, blue accessories and a corsage of deep blue delphiniums and pink sweetheart roses.

Deep pink rubium lilies and navy and dusty rose accessories complemented the navy blue lace dress worn by Mrs. Amos.

Three hundred guests attended the reception in the church. Guests were present from Florida, Cleveland, Hanoverton, Canton, Akron, Cuyahoga Falls, Columbus, Lisbon, Youngstown, Columbiana, Salem, Alliance, Newark, Lakewood, Urichville, Arlington, Va. and Evanston, Ill.

A pink and white color scheme was used for the reception. An engraved bell, a wedding gift to the couple, topped the five-tiered wedding cake. The church guild served as hostesses.

The bride is a graduate of Cuyahoga Falls High School and Mount Union College where she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega social sorority.

A graduate of Salem High school and Mount Union College, the bridegroom is studying for his master's degree in chemistry at Ohio University. He is a member of Phi Kappa Tau social fraternity and Alembroic Society, national chemistry honorary.

The couple will reside in Athens where the bride will be employed by the Service Department at the University, and the bridegroom will continue his studies.

Bar Harbor, Me., is the couple's honeymoon destination. For traveling Mrs. Amos chose a navy cotton sheath with black patent accessories and the corsage from the bridal bouquet.

Massillon Man Gets Ford Agency Here

Bud Shaffer of Massillon has been appointed as the new Ford dealer in Salem.

Shaffer had been associated with his father, Aaron Shaffer, in Massillon for the past 14 years as a Ford dealer.

Beginning late this month Shaffer will erect a $150,000 building on the site of his present building on N. Ellsworth Ave., across from the Salem polo field.

The name of the new agency will be Bud Shaffer Ford Inc. The building will be constructed of modern brick and cement block. It will measure 110 feet by 60 feet and will be on an acreage of ground 260 feet long facing Ellsworth Ave. and extending 500 feet west from Ellsworth.

The sales room will be 70 feet by 26 feet, and at the rear of the show room will be four private offices.

Latest heating units will heat the building. New equipment will include a wash rack, steam cleaning and one and two post automobile lifts.

The show room will have slanted glass to cut down reflection, and aluminized white fiber glass signs will identify the front of the building.

Shaffer, 36, was born in Barberton, and is an alumnus of Kent State University. He is married and has three children, two boys and one girl.

At the present time, Shaffer is commuting from Massillon and plans to move to Salem next spring at the end of the school year.

Fred Clause of Greenford is Shaffer's sales manager.

"It was pretty tough," he said. "There was no one to talk to, nothing to read and nothing to do. I got a nervous tic but that has gone now. I think the general practice is to be rough on prisoners before the sentence and lenient afterward. The treatment is fine now."

Fecteau said there had been no organized attempt to make him a Communist.

Fecteau said he had nothing to tell the press except "to get me out of here."

story except for a two-level classroom wing. It will include modern laboratory facilities, excellent music rooms, cafeteria, library and a spacious gymnasium which will seat 2,400 at basketball games. At other times the gym can be divided by the folding partition into two full size gym floors for boys and girls gym classes.

Trades Class Wing The school will provide a large wing for an expanded Salem Trades Class program.

No auditorium will be in the building, but one is expected to be added later if funds become available.

The school will have a capacity of about 1,200 students. It will be a three-year high school, and the present building will serve as a three-year junior high school.

The building is scheduled for completion in March.

Nazarene Services Continue This Week

Revival services at the Church of the Nazarene will continue through the week, beginning each evening at 7:30. A prayer service will be held at 7 p.m.

Rev. Bill Griffin of Nampa, Idaho is the evangelist, assisted by Leiland Davis, song evangelist and musician.

Special songs and a gospel message will be presented each evening.

200 Scouts Attend Weekend Camporal

LISBON — Well over 200 Boy Scouts, Explorers and volunteer leaders representing Columbiana County and the Chester, W. Va., area attended a camporal at Camp McKinley near Lisbon last weekend.

Friday evening the group saw fireworks display presented by the Lisbon Fireworks Co.

Saturday morning the boys engaged in competitive field sports with Troops 5 and 6 of Salem and Troops 43 of Calcutta coming out on top.

Saturday afternoon was taken up with a merit badge show viewed by nearly 100 cub scouts, leaders and visitors. In the evening at a campfire, parents and visitors enjoyed skits offered by each troop in attendance. The council round-up was officially kicked off at this time. This program is designed to increase membership and to stimulate advancements in the Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Explorer Posts.

Sunday morning the boys attended church services. Rev. Tom Hammerton of the First Methodist Church in Lisbon held a Protestant service at the camp chapel. Boys of the Catholic faith attended the 8 a.m. Mass at St. George Catholic Church.

The highlight of the weekend came on Sunday afternoon when a crowd of over 500 watched the Marine Corps Reserve Company of East Liverpool in a simulated attack on an enemy stronghold.

Following the Marine attack, a magician put on a show.

The new law repeals a post-Civil War era law authorizing the President to use troops to enforce court orders in civil rights cases. But administration officials obviously feel Eisenhower has other powers for the handling of that situation.

The bill was passed by Congress a day before it adjourned Aug. 30, after an historic struggle lasting through the 1957 session.

Passage of the measure was a significant victory for the President even though his original proposals were rewritten by the Democratic-controlled Congress to remove or soften some of the far-ranging provisions.

Katich Hurls Midland, Pa., to Softball Tourney Title

Bucci Market Routed 11-0

Canton Babcock
Trips McDonald 1-0

George "Fats" Katich, Midland USW 1212 ace, continued his scoreless pitching spree for the fourth straight game, as his team turned back Bucci Market of Youngstown 11-0, in winning the finals of the Salem Invitational Softball Tournament held at Kelley Field last night before some 400 fans.

Midland wrapped up the game in the bottom of the second inning, when they tallied three runs on three hits and an error. They clinched matters in the next frame by tallying six times to raise their lead to 9-0. Midland punched over two more runs in the 6th.

THE ONLY HIT off Katich was by Tony Coradetti, who smacked out a solid single in the third inning.

Other pitching feats accomplished by Katich during the tournament were: two no-hitters including a perfect game, four shut-outs or 28 scoreless innings, gave up three hits, three walks and struck out 58 men in 28 innings including 16 strike outs in one game which tied the tourney one-game record and faced only 90 men in 28 innings striking out the side six times.

Midland pitchers permitted but one run, six hits and four walks in 55 innings they hurled in the tournament. John Carter had pitched the Pennsylvaniaans to a 3-hit, 2-1 win over Salem Hendron's in the first tourney game for both clubs.

Bob Boston, Midland's first sacker, hit .643 during the tourney. Boston slugged out 9 hits in 14 tries including two home runs and three triples.

IN THE CONSOLATION contest, Canton Babcock for Mayor nipped McDonald 1307 1-0 scoring their only run in the seventh, as Wayne Nelson pitched a no-hitter for the victors.

The winning run came with two men down. McLain singled, Davis reached base on an error, and McLain scored on Ferguson's single.

Tonight the city league softball finals take up where they left off 10 days ago, with Purity Dairy battling Homeworth in a game scheduled 7. The two teams are one and one in the series.

Stepanic's and Kenmar go against each other again at 8, with tepanic leading 1-0 in the series. In the final tilt Old Dutch faces Hendron to open their series.

Althea Gibson Wins Women's Tennis Crown

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. — Three short years ago, Althea Gibson was so discouraged that she was ready to give up tennis and join the Women's Army Corps.

Today the angular Harlem girl rules an undisputed queen of the courts, the first Negro ever to win a national championship. "I was ready to chuck it all in those days," Miss Gibson said. "I was mixed up and seemed to be getting nowhere in the game. Now, of course I'm glad I didn't join the WACs."

She should be. Sunday, on the polished center court of the West Side Tennis Club, she gave a superb exhibition of craftsmanship to defeat Louise Brough 6-3, 6-2 in the final. The victory culminated a dream of seven years for Miss Gibson.

While Althea's triumph was expected, the result of the men's division was a distinct surprise. Unseeded Mal Anderson whipped his Australian teammate Ashley Cooper 10-8, 7-5, 6-4 in two second all-Australian final in two years. Cooper, the champion of Australia, was seeded No. 1, but he never was in the match against the skinny Anderson. It was the first time in the memory of veteran officials that an unseeded player has won this coveted title.

Miss Gibson's victory over Miss Brough, a 34-year-old Beverly Hills, Calif., campaigner, came in the form of sweet revenge. It was in 1950 that she met Miss Brough in a second-round match. She was within two points of winning when a violent thunderstorm erupted. The match was completed the next day and Miss Brough won it, 10.

Cards Punch Out 4-3 Victory Over Redlegs in 9th Inning

ST. LOUIS — The mid-season pitching troubles of southpaw Joe Nuxhall are apparently cured, but his hurling still has an unpredictable quality.

St. Louis Cardinal batsmen could hardly get through to him in the first seven innings Sunday.

Knepper Wins Valley Club Tournament

COLUMBIANA — Ralph Knepper of Salem won his second Valley Golf Club Class A championship Saturday when he carded 33-34-67 in the club's 26th annual tournament.

Eight district golfers competed in the 18-hole event. Knepper's three under par total was two strokes better than runner-up Art Rohrer of Columbiana who had 35-34-69.

His victory qualified Knepper to represent the club in the "Champs of Champs" tourney Sept. 29 at the Squaw Creek Country Club in Youngstown.

In the Class B handicap event Bob Williams of Lisbon won with 79-22-57. Joe Reese of Columbiana was second with 80-22-58. Wal Lutsch of Columbiana was third with 85-24-61.

Anthony Brelih of Salem won the blind bogey with a net 77.

Mahoning Poloists Lose To Salem 12-9

The Salem Polo Team won its first match in five tries this season from the Mahoning Valley Club when they defeated the team at Poland Sunday 12-9.

The locals brought their year's record to 14 wins, 14 losses and two ties. Four matches remain on their 1957 schedule.

Paul Powers and Phil Thompson each had four goals for Salem while Ron Tetamanz had two and Lloyd Brunner and Jim Watson, one each.

Jack Zedaker scored four goals for the losers. Eddie Roberts had two goals as did Bud Kummel for Mahoning while teammate Joe Botak scored one.

Stan Strous, Mahoning ace, did not play Sunday. He is expected to be in action next Sunday at 3 p.m. when Salem will meet the Mahoning team on the home field.

Salem led at the intermission of Sunday's tilt, 5-3. They took a 8-5 lead going into the sixth and final chukker. Each club then ganged across four goals in the rough and hectic final frame, with Salem finishing ahead, 12-9.

Salem's four remaining matches are all at home. On Sept. 15, they play Mahoning, and on Sept. 22 they play Lancaster. Toledo is at Salem Sept. 29, and the Quakers end their season Oct. 6 against Cleveland.

Chisox Pennant Hopes Blasted

Urban Yields 5 Hits
As Athletics Win 3-2

CHICAGO — Ex-New York Yankees aren't hard to find in the Kansas City lineup, but any way one looks at it a former Yankee shut the door on the Chicago White Sox pennant hopes Sunday.

Jack Urban, a 29-year-old rookie twirled the A's to a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox which placed the Sox 5½ games behind the New York Yankees who have only 16 more to play.

Urban, who jokingly calls himself the "oldest rookie to break in the big leagues in years," was a thrown in completing New York's big deal with Kansas City which saw Athletic starts Art Ditmar and Bobby Shantz move up with the perennial champions.

"After we made the deal," said Manager Harry Craft, "The Yanks owed us one minor league player. Before the season opened, they sent us Urban and we shipped him out to Denver. We recalled him around the middle of May and have never been sorry since."

Urban yielded only five hits — three in the first inning — in posting his fifth triumph against three losses. After a one-out single to Minnie Minoso in the fourth, Urban held the Sox hitless until relief pitcher Dixie Howell tripped with two out in the 13th after the A's had gone ahead, 3-2.

Actually, the Omaha, Neb., native pitched nine and one-third innings of hitless ball and would have won the game sooner had it not been for a three-base error by outfielder Lou Skizas enabling the Sox to tie the score in the eighth after the A's had taken a 2-1 lead on one of Urban's three hits.

Al Lopez, Chicago's calm manager said "He pitched a great game, but we're still in this race. Anything can happen," added Lopez hopefully.

Outside of Skizas' 18th homer of the year, both ansas City runs were a bit tainted. Urban's single with two out scored Billy Hunter from first only because Larry Doby lost the ball in the sun.

Tokyo — Hisao Kobayashi, 126, Japan, outpointed Kiyooki Nakamishi, 1.8, Japan, 8.

Dodgers Offered $5½ Million To Make Move to Los Angeles

NEW YORK — Baseball's big question as to the future home of the Brooklyn Dodgers became even more involved today with a group of Los Angeles businessmen offering to purchase the National League club and move it to the West Coast city.

Elliott Evans of Los Angeles said he and associates were willing to top by half a million dollars the five-million-dollar offer made for the club a few days ago by New Yorker Louis E. Wolfson.

Brown Preps Two Additions For Lions Tilt

CLEVELAND — Coach Paul Brown hopes he can get Milt Campbell and Jim Haluska ready for action with his Cleveland Browns before next Saturday night's game with the Detroit Lions.

The biggest problem facing the two newcomers is learning the Browns' football system, Campbell, away from the game for over a year, has no professional football experience. Haluska did little quarterbacking in the year he spent with the Chicago Bears.

Both players will spend most of this week being taught the Cleveland play patterns by backfield coach Howard Brinker. Today, rookies like center Joe Amstutz, fullback Jim Brown and the veteran Preston Carpenter, shifted to end from halfback, will run through the basic offense plays with Haluska and Campbell.

Haluska, who led Wisconsin to the Rose Bowl in 1952, said he was throwing regularly in Bears' practice sessions and his arm feels ready. With the quarterback position still in doubt, Haluska said he welcomed the trade which brought him to the Browns.

Campbell will try to fill the half-back spot left vacant when Carpenter was shifted to end, Dante Lavelli's position. Since Lavelli's retirement, coach Brown has been unable to find someone to handle the pass-catching chores. Rookies Frank Clarke and Thurlow Cooper have been unable to play the position with authority.

Milwaukee, NY Lead By 5½ Despite Mound Shortages

Cubs Nip Braves As Cards Win

Chisox Lose to KC, Yankees Triumph

By The Associated Press

The pitching mound, where Milwaukee lost the National League pennant during the closing weeks last year, once again has become "heartbreak hill" for Braves' Manager Fred Haney.

Their first-place margin over St. Louis reduced to 5½ games—lowest since Aug. 11 — by Sunday's 5-3 loss to Chicago, the Braves face the last three weeks with only one reliable pitcher, 36-year-old Warren Spahn. The other members of the once formidable Big Four — Lew Burdette, Bob Buhl and Gene Conley — are either ailing or failing.

The New York Yankees, also plagued by an acute pitching shortage, got good relief pitching by Bobby Shantz and defeated Washington 5-2 to increase their first-place lead to 5½ games over Chicago in the American League. The White Sox, who now trail by four games in the important lost column, dropped a 13-inning 3-2 decision to Kansas City.

The Cardinals overcame a 3-0 deficit with two runs each in the eighth and ninth innings to defeat Cincinnati 4-3.

The New York Giants defeated third-place Brooklyn 3-2. Philadelphia and Pittsburgh split, the Phillies winning 7-4 and the Pirates 6-2.

Detroit triumphed over Cleveland 3-1 and Boston, behind the three-hit pitching of Mike Fornieles, shut out Baltimore 2-0.

Milwaukee has played 52 games since Aug. 13, the day Burdette pitched what was then the seventh consecutive complete game by a Brave pitcher. Only seven times since then has a Milwaukee pitcher gone the route. Spahn was that pitcher on five occasions.

Last September the same Big Four completed only 7 of 26 starts.

It was Conley who failed Sunday although relief pitcher Ernie Johnson took the defeat. Big Gene, who hasn't won since Aug. 11, failed to last the fourth inning when the Cubs increased their lead to 3-0. The Braves fought back to tie the score at 3-3 in the ninth but four walks plus pinch hitter Bob Will's single produced two Chicago runs in the 10th and paved the way for Milwaukee's fourth loss in its last five games.

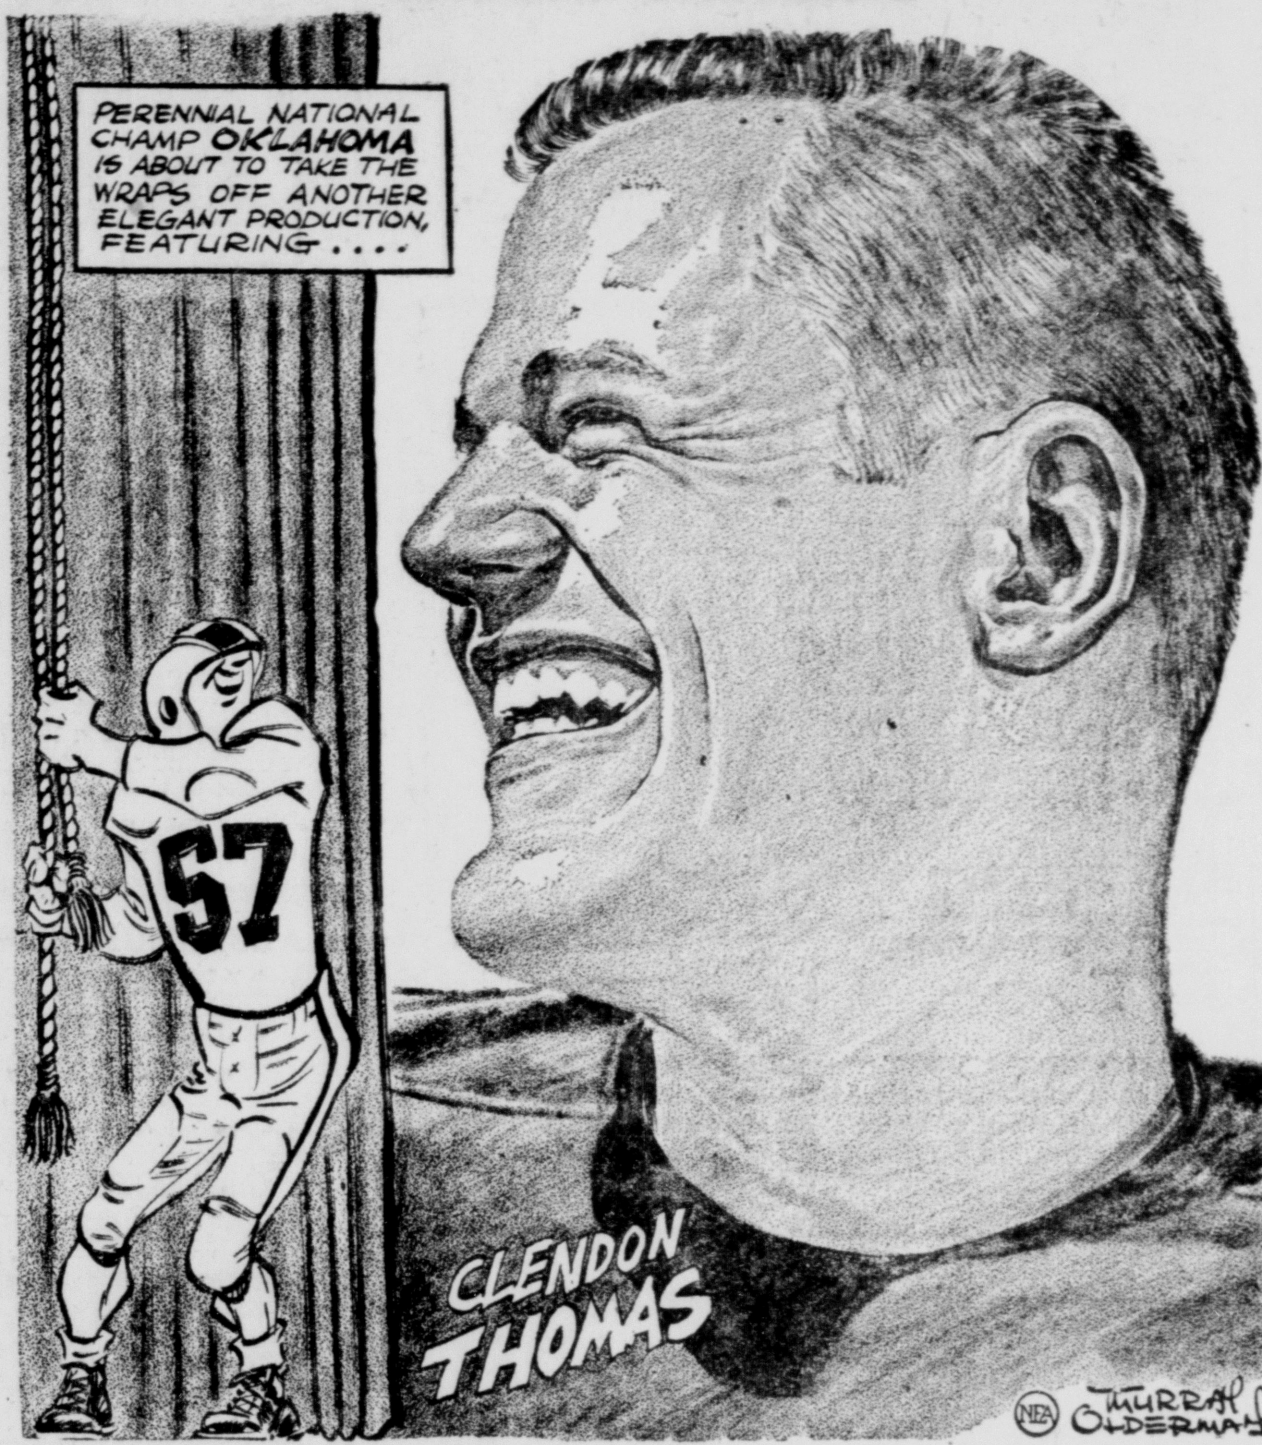

Dale Long paced the Cubs' 10-hit attack with a double, two singles, a walk and two runs batted in. Dick Drott who replaced starter Moe Drabowsky in the ninth, won his 13th game against 11 defeats.

Unsuccessful sacrifice bunts helped the Cards score the tying and winning runs in the ninth. Cincinnati starter Joe Nuxhall held a 3-2 lead when Del Ennis opened the Cards' ninth with a walk. Ken Boyer, after bunting foul, swung away and singled.

Wally Moon fouled off two attempted sacrifice bunts, then singled to score pinch runner Herm Wehmeier. Alvin Dark drove in Boyer with the winning run. Larry Jackson, in relief of Vinegar Bend Mizell, won his 14th.

Three of the Giants' five hits off loser Don Drysdale and Ed Roebuck accounted for all their runs. Willie Mays opened the fourth with a single. Ray Jablonski scored him with a triple and followed Willie home a minute later when Hank Sauer blasted his

Loss to Tigers Drops Tribe 3 Games Out of First Division

D-ETROIT (AP) — The Cleveland Indians have one last chance to even the season's series with the Detroit Tigers—the Tribe's final home game on Sept. 23.

Sunday's 3-1 loss left the Indians with a 10-11 season record against Detroit. The loss dropped the fifth-place Indians three games out of the first division. Washington and Baltimore were the only teams from whom Cleveland could win the 22-game season series.

The Tribe dropped their 11th game to Detroit Sunday as Billy Hoelt hurled a seven-hitter. Only Gene Woodling's eighth inning homer saved the Tribe from a shutout.

Cal McLish started for the Tribe and gave up two runs and eight hits before Hank Aguirre replaced him in the eighth. McLish was charged with his sixth loss. He has won eight.

McLish contributed to his own downfall when he allowed a run to score in the first inning on a bases-loaded wild pitch.

Jim Finigan led off with a single. Ray Boone beat out a slow roller to the mound and Al Kaline followed with a single, scoring Finigan. Charley Maxwell singled to load the bases and, with Harvey Kuenn at bat, McLish uncorked a wild pitch, scoring a run.

The score remained 2-0 until the eighth when Woodling hammered a disputed home run into the lower right field stands near the foul pole. The Tigers protested that it was a foul ball.

A pair of Detroit singles sent McLish to the shower and Aguirre took over for the Tribe. Maxwell, the first batter he faced, greeted him with a single which scored Dave Philley.

The Indians are idle today. They open a two-game series with the New York Yankees Tuesday night.

Batting
Hank Sauer, Giants—Hammered his 25th homer, a two-run wallop, to climax a three-run outburst in the fourth inning that gave the Giants a 3-2 victory over Brooklyn in the final game between the two rivals at the Polo Grounds.

Pitching
Jack Urban, Athletics — Went all the way in Kansas City's 13-inning 3-2 victory over Chicago, limiting the White Sox to five hits. Between the fourth and 13th, he pitched nine consecutive hitless innings.

Cubs Rip Braves 5-3 In Tenth

Milwaukee's Lead Cut to 5½ Games

MILWAUKEE — The Milwaukee Braves lost their fourth game in five starts Sunday and saw their National League lead trimmed to 5½ games, but shouted down suggestions that they were embarked on another September fade.

The Milwaukee confidence that a World Series appearance will come to pass was supported by spokesmen for the last-place Chicago Cubs, who beat the Braves 5-3 in 10 innings to take their second triumph in the three-game series.

Last year the Braves were edged out by one game in the final two days of the season by the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Leading the chorus of Milwaukee optimism was veteran left-handed hurler Warren Spahn, who stopped the Cubs on five hits Saturday night.

"We're not feeling any pressure yet," he said. "It's just that a recession has set in. You've got to expect it after all those runs we've been scoring and the way we've been winning."

"And the other clubs are under no pressure, because they have nothing to lose. It's different with us. We have everything to lose. I just hope we don't get down to the point where we're only 3½ or 2½ games ahead. Then we're bound to feel it."

Cub Manager Bob Scheffing didn't forecast any serious difficulties for the Braves as he said, getting in a plug for his team.

"Remember Milwaukee has been looking at the best pitching in the league right now. And your pitchers have been having troubles. But I didn't see any signs of pressure or tightening up."

Chuck Tanner, who started the season with the Braves, said, "Milwaukee has got the best club in the league by far. They can't miss this time."

Buenos Aires—Frederick Thompson, 150, Argentina, outpointed Gunther Hase, 148, Germany, 10. Kingston, Jamaica — Sugar Boy Nanco, 155, Netherlands West Indies, stopped Hugh Serville, 156, Trinidad, 5.

49ers, Packers Win Fourth Straight Exhibition Games

By The Associated Press

San Francisco's 49ers and Green Bay's Packers are the only teams with unblemished exhibition records in the National Football League but Chicago's big bad Bears have started to rumble.

The Bears, beaten by the New York Giants in last fall's playoff, sprang loose a rookie halfback named Willie Galimore Sunday and dealt the Philadelphia Eagles their fifth straight setback, 24-14. It was one of the five games played over the weekend.

In Saturday's games, the 49ers and Packers each won their fourth straight with San Francisco defeating the winless Chicago Cardinals, 27-21, and Green Bay downing the Giants, 13-10. On Sunday, the Pittsburgh Steelers made their record 2-2 by turning back the Detroit Lions 20-14 and the Washington Redskins won their first in four with a 24-14 victory over the Baltimore Colts. The Giants' defeat was the champions' second. They have won three.

Galimore, a 190 pounder from Florida A&M, reeled off touchdown runs of 74 and 100 yards as the Bears made their exhibition record two victories, one defeat and a tie. He opened the scoring with a 74-yard sprint. Then he took the kickoff and stepped off the length of the gridiron.

Y. A. Tittle, veteran quarterback, again engineered the 49ers attack. Passes to Clyde Conner and R. C. (Overdrive) Owens accounted for two touchdowns and Gene Babb plunged for the other two. The big play in the Cards' attack was a 37-yard payoff serial from Lamar McHan to Gern Nagler.

Two field goals by Fred Cone, from 17 and 30 yards out, gave the Packers their advantage over the Giants. The champions counted 10 points in the first period but could do nothing thereafter. Don Chandler missed a 38-yard field goal attempt in the last two minutes as the Giants battled to square the score.

The Redskins rolled up three touchdowns before Colt quarterback John Unitas passing made the score somewhat closer. The first Redskins TD came when Norb Hecker intercepted a pass on the Baltimore 47, raced to the 25 where he lateraled to Tom Braatz, who scored. Joe Scudero scampered 40 yards for the second.

Coach Buddy Parker, in full charge of Pittsburgh for the first time since taking over a month ago, saw the Steelers turn on his old club with a great display of defensive strength after taking a 20-7 lead going into the final period. Dick Hughes returned a punt 86 yards for a Steelers' touchdown early in the third period.

Baseball Tourney In Third Round

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — The eastern playoff of the American Amateur Baseball Congress tournament entered its third round today with 12 teams scheduled to battle it out in six games.

Today's schedule sends Turner, Maine, against East Chicago, Ind.; Wyandotte, Mich., vs Cincinnati; Bridgeport, Conn., vs Springfield, Ill.; Lamar, S. C., vs Knoxville, Tenn.; Battle Creek vs Huntington, W. Va., and Cleveland vs Orlando, Fla.

Wyandotte, Cincinnati, Huntington and Battle Creek hold 2-0 records in the double-elimination tournament. All the other teams have 1-1 records.

In second round competition Sunday, Battle Creek whipped Cleveland 3-2; Huntington edged Orlando 5-4; Turner eliminated Chicago 10-9; Knoxville eliminated Louisville, Ky., 16-3; Cincinnati beat Bridgeport 4-3; East Chicago eliminated Milwaukee 6-4, and Wyandotte stopped Springfield, 7-1.

Careful Home Owners Do Away With Potential House Hazards

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It may not take more than a little elbow grease and a second thought to prevent a serious accident in the home. But many parents neglect doing the small things here and there that will make their homes safer.

Many a youngster has been burned by tampering with electric outlets that lie right in the path of crawlers and toddlers. Yet, there are plastic caps that cost but a few cents that may be inserted into these outlets in a jiffy, and removed when the outlet is put into use.

WINDOWS ARE ANOTHER potential danger in the home, especially when they do not lock properly or when the screens offer little protection to curious small fry. It takes only a few minutes to anchor screens firmly with proper hardware so that they will act as barriers.

Rustic fences are lovely to look at, but those with pointed tops may serve as a real danger to a child who is at the climbing age. One slip from his perch on an unsteady wagon or tricycle as he leans over a fence could cause serious injury, perhaps the loss of an eye. Arms and legs may be filled with splinters too, unless a coat of shellac or varnish is put over rough wood to seal it and prevent weathering.

THE POPULAR HOME workshop is another potential danger being stressed these days with the argument that "emergencies don't wait." Power tools experts suggest building a five-foot wall of beaverboard around the home workshop.

They suggest installing a gate that locks to keep children away from saws, chisels, and especially power tools.

A rickety high-chair may bet better support by enlarging the base of it so the child can't over-turn it by rocking. Falls may be prevented by installing hand rails on stairways, by putting a rubber pad under scatter rugs, by putting grab rails next to the bathtub and installing light switches at stairways and at the entrances to rooms. Sand chest near outdoor steps and walks will come in handy when ice forms and the area requires sanding.

FIRE MAY BE AVOIDED by keeping chimneys clean. A burlap bag filled with straw and weighted with a brick may be lowered and raised inside the chimney from the roof until sooty residue is removed. A dry Christmas tree thrown into a fireplace is a frequent cause of chimney fires.

Walls and ceilings surrounding the furnace should be covered with fireproof material. Fire extinguishers should be available handily in the house with one kept within range of the kitchen stove.

IF YOU ARE PLANNING to insulate your home, choose a non-burnable type of insulation. The material will serve as a partial fire barrier, preventing flash fires that race along the air spaces inside walls of non-insulated homes.

It's a good idea also to check your safety quotient on these points:

Are sharp kitchen knives stored in a separate container away from the table ware?

Is your medicine chest too accessible to small hand? Keep aspirin, medicines and other potentially dangerous drugs on the highest shelf in the house.

ARE LAUNDRY BLEACHES and other poisonous compounds kept out of reach of groping hands?

It's a good idea, too, to remove the lock from the bathroom door when there are children or old folk in the family. The bathroom is an accident focal point for children and elderly people. If the door is locked, you may not be able to reach them soon enough.

If lights are operated by pull chains near sinks or in the cellar, it's a good idea to install an insulating link or a nonconductive socket.

BANDS MAKE ACID BRUSH brush can be made quickly from a few rubber bands pinched together with a piece of sheet metal bent around them for a handle.

DAMPEN SANDPAPER Sandpaper will last longer, work better, and resist cracking if the paper back is dampened slightly.

VINEGAR SLOWS PLASTER Vinegar added to water when mixing plaster of Paris will keep the mixture from hardening too quickly.

In a recent survey of 325 homes equipped with year-around gas air conditioning, 82 per cent of the owners said the value of their home was substantially increased.

Experts say the amount of hot water required in a modern home is from two to four times greater than that used in a comparable household of 20 years ago.

A minimum of an hour and a half a day is spent by the average housewife in getting meals.

Now's The Time To Prepare Your Home for Cold Weather

Now, while you're still happy in the garden or on the terrace, take time to think about colder weather. It's a dreary thought, perhaps, but it can pay off handsomely during the winter months.

Leaves already are falling. Window screens are coming off for winter storage. Training for football, a cold weather sport, is at its peak. Frigid weather, inescapably, is coming.

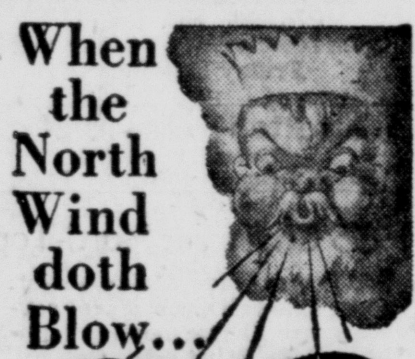

What about last winter? Did you have one or more of these common ills in home heating — fluctuating temperatures? Drafts? Cold floors and walls?

Then, you may need to doctor your ailing home heating system. It need not be expensive in all cases. Many heating problems can be corrected by relatively simple and inexpensive methods.

Here, according to the Better Heating - Cooling Council, are the most common heating problems, their causes and how they might be solved:

A CHIEF COMPLAINT is temperature variation. This means marked differences in temperature from room to room and, perhaps, from floor to ceiling.

In suffering this heating ailment, you feel alternately hot and cold. Or warm about the head, and cold about the feet.

In a new house, this problem undoubtedly stems from faulty design of the heating system or errors in its installation. The responsibility, therefore, must be with the person who sold you the house or installed the system.

But if your heating system is well over five years old and only recently has started to falter, a checkup by a reliable heating contractor may quickly spot the trouble. The oil or gas burner may not be functioning properly. The heating unit may need cleaning. Perhaps the chimney doesn't draw properly.

HOWEVER, THE COUNCIL adds temperature variation usually means that heat distributors have been improperly placed. The council says that such distributors — baseboards, convectors, or radiators — should be installed always under windows.

Thus the heat counteracts the infiltration of cold air through the windows and provides the gentle, even circulation of air necessary for good heating.

Room-to-room heating problems? You may need to increase the capacity of the heat distributor in colder rooms. Relocation of the thermostat may help. If this sensitive instrument is located on a wall over a duct or hot water pipe — or too near a bright lamp, a television set or other appliance which give off heat — the thermostat may not be registering accurate over-all room temperature.

THIS, TOO, MAY help. When separate circuits are built into a forced hot water heating system, single rooms or groups of rooms can be heated separately to suit individual needs. This procedure is called "zoning" and a separate thermostat is installed for each circuit.

"Zoning" heat installations cost more. But they insure better living conditions and lower fuel bills because they have finer control and they increase heating efficiency.

The heating system may not be at fault at all in the case of chilling drafts. Cold air may be entering through cracks. Ask yourself: Is my home well insulated? Weather stripping, proper insulation of walls and storm windows may be the answer.

BUT, THE COUNCIL reiterates, if heat distributors are not placed under windows, you're fighting a losing war against cold because in other locations the heat distributors cannot repel the infiltration of cold air.

If you live in a slab-type house, you may have cold floors unless you have radiant coils in the floor. The heating baseboards must supply heat along the outside walls of the room. Warm air heating ducts should be embedded in the slab to help warm the floor.

But, you say, your house has baseboards which are heated either by hot water or steam. Don't give them another thought, then. The baseboards will keep both the floors and the walls cozy warm.

THEY DO IT IN TWO ways: by radiation, which means the direct transmittal of heat rays, and also by "convection," a tricky sounding word which means, simply, the warming of air.

Just like a lot of other things, a heating plant is an intricate mechanism. It needs a periodic checkup and a cleaning by a skilled technician.

You don't neglect your car, do you? You have it checked regularly, and you keep clean oil in the engine. Similarly, take good care of your home heating system and have it checked annually in early fall — perhaps right now, while you think of it.

A checkup is good insurance against heating ailments which may develop later when you least want them — at a time when there's snow on the ground and a chill wind is trying to deep-freeze your home.

Dos And Don'ts

A HAND-RUBBED FINISH DO... get an excellent hard rubbed finish on new wood (or wood from which the old finish has been removed) with a mixture of two parts of boiled linseed oil to one part of turpentine.

DO... wait a few minutes, then go over the wood with a dry cloth to remove all traces of excess oil. DO... after about half an hour, take another dry cloth and start rubbing, remembering that with this type of finish, it is impossible to rub too long or too hard.

DON'T... neglect to rub down the finish about once a week for several weeks, the purpose being to get the type of satin finish that wood ordinarily gets only after several years of care.

DON'T... forget that a finish of this sort, while transparent, makes the wood a little darker than its natural color, so experiment first on an inconspicuous part of the furniture to be sure of the correct hue.

DON'T... allow spilled liquids to remain very long on the surface of this (or any other) finish, although the linseed-oil turpentine combination is more resistant to stains than most.

Columbiana Kiwanians To Elect Officers

W. G. Gloss, High School Head, Rejects Adult Classes Proposal

COLUMBIANA — Election of officers is scheduled for the meeting of the Kiwanis Club at 6:30 p.m. today. The club returns to Heck's after holding its summer

Cincinnati Team Win Series Title

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — A three-run rally and a triple play catapulted Cincinnati's Robert Bentley Post to its fourth American Legion junior Little World Series title Sunday night.

The decisive 10-6 victory was scored over Willamette Post of Portland, Ore.

Cincinnati trailed Portland, 4-3 at the end of five innings, but rallied for three runs in the sixth and added four more in the eighth.

First baseman Tom Weber's three-run double down the right-field line was the key blow in the eighth after Cincinnati nipped a budding Portland rally in the previous inning with a triple play.

Cincinnati was unbeaten. It defeated Washington, D. C., 9-7; Portland, 8-6, and again, 19-6. The Ohio post also won national titles in 194, 1947 and 1952.

Dewey Is Named Conference Examiner

CHICAGO (AP) — K. L. "Tug" Wilson, commissioner of the Big Ten Conference, today announced the appointment of John D. Dewey as conference examiner.

The position was created by Big Ten faculty representatives at a meeting last May.

The examiner will make regular visits to Big Ten schools and examine their financial aid practices and conformity with Big Ten regulation governing financial aid to athletes.

His reports on any deviations from conference regulations will be the basis of disciplinary action to be instituted by the commissioner.

Wilson described the functions of the new office as that of a "visiting auditor."

Dewey is a native of Joliet, Ill., and a graduate of Northwestern University. He has been staff auditor at Purdue University the last four years.

STATE BOARD TO MEET

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state board of education meets tonight for what board President Robert Manchester describes as a "routine" session. Board members Sunday night were guests of Gov. C. William O'Neill for a dinner at the governor's mansion. Manchester said the affair was "purely social."

meetings in Firestone Park. For entertainment, the Rev. H. J. Schiedmante will present three members of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club. They are Mrs. Florence Campbell, Mrs. James Hunt and Mrs. Richard Kapp.

Dr. Carl A. Lingke of Carrollton, district president of Rotary International, will make his official visit to the Columbiana club at Valley Golf at 6:30 p.m. today.

High school principal W. G. Gloss has received seven inquiries concerning recent proposals for adult classes in education, but they are not enough to justify special classes. More prospective enrollments may result in classes being formed. Inquirers have mentioned sewing, typing, shorthand and bookkeeping as their interests.

A RENEWAL permit from the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board for the discharge of sewage from Columbiana "into the waters of the state" noted that there has been a decline in efficiency of the Columbiana disposal plant and made another renewal to Aug. 15, 1958, contingent upon satisfactory efficiency of the disposal plant. It is the first time there has been any criticism of the Columbiana plant. Village sanitary engineer, Don Heffelfinger of Alliance, will check on its condition.

The Jolly 25 Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Don A. Patchen in Poland at 2 p.m. Wednesday. Mrs. Mabel Hoover will have charge of devotions.

Miriam Circle of the Presbyterian church will observe husbands night with a party at Valley Golf Club at 8 p.m. Wednesday. A talk by William Yoder of the Citizens Bank will follow. The committee on arrangements is Katherine Schlag, Joan Jones and Barbara Koch.

COLUMBIANA branch of the W.C.T.U. will meet at the home of its president, Mrs. Anna Lou Nolsheim at 118 W. Railroad St. at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Charles Fullerton of Seattle, engineer with the Automatic Sprinkler Co. of Youngstown and formerly of Columbiana is in Australia there and teaching its operation. He is a son of Harry Fullerton of 234 N. Main St.

Hulda Evans will be manager again this year of the Columbiana school cafeteria, with Grace Austin and Ella Engle assisting at the High School building. Olive Crawford and Mary Stark will assist at Dixon School building.

Villagers Hope Shoe Company Will Rebuild

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Teams of village officials and civic leaders hope in the next 10 days to persuade P. Sullivan Shoe Co. to rebuild its fire-blackened plant here.

At a general meeting Sunday, four committees were named to pursue the project and report Sept. 19.

The shoe factory, sole industry here, was destroyed by fire early Saturday with a loss estimated at one million dollars. It had employed 209 persons.

Arthur P. Sullivan of Cincinnati, company president, said Saturday he has not made up his mind about rebuilding.

This child is SCHEDULED TO BE AN ORPHAN —TOMORROW!

This little girl—and too many others like her—may lose her father or mother, or both, in a traffic accident tomorrow. Last year alone, 40,000 men, women and children died on our highways. Most of these deaths can be prevented—with your cooperation.

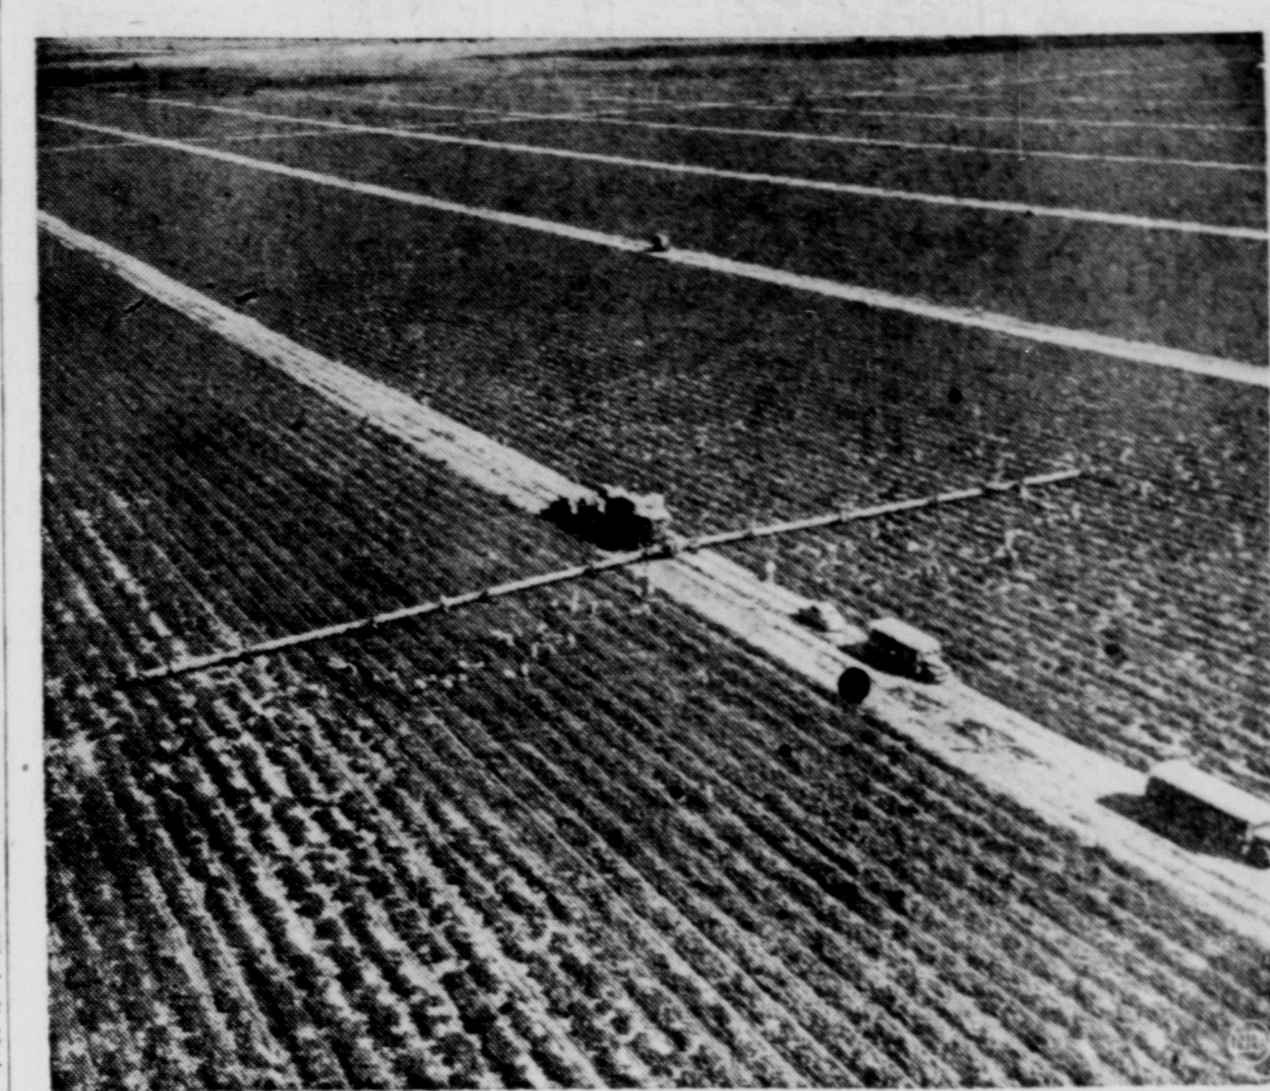

BACK THE ATTACK ON TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Here's how you can help:

- 1 Drive safely, courteously yourself. Observe speed limits, warning signs. Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!
- 2 Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. They work for you, not against you. Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

Roundup Time On Tomato Farm

Wittenburg's Editor Dies of Heart Ailment

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Services will be held in Wittenburg College's Weaver Memorial Chapel Wednesday for Karl G. Lind, 63, founder of Wittenburg's student newspaper, who died of a heart ailment here Sunday.

Lind was graduated from Wittenburg in 1916 and worked as a newspaper reporter on the Springfield Daily News, the Cleveland Press and the Indianapolis News before becoming Wittenburg's first publicity director in 1923.

Lind also taught English and journalism at the college for more than 25 years and since 1952 had been Wittenburg's college editor. He had been a member of the board of publications of the United Lutheran Church in America for the past 11 years.

Young Man Loses Game Of Russian Roulette

RICHMOND, Tex. (AP) — Benny Miranda, 21, lost a game of Russian roulette Sunday on his first try.

Deputy Sheriff W. A. Potter said Miranda and his two cousins decided to play the game and Miranda was first. Potter said the youth slipped one shell into a .22-caliber pistol, placed it at his head and pulled the trigger. He died 10 hours later.

Club Women Meet With Mrs. Halverstadt

Mrs. Robert Halverstadt entertained members of the Chardares Club at her home on E. State St. Thursday evening. Game prizes went to Mrs. Fred Leininger, Mrs. Dean Tamati and Mrs. John Horn, a guest. Mrs. Richard Helmick was welcomed as a new member.

The next meeting will be Sept. 26 at the home of Mrs. Jack Circle of 308 W. Pershing St.

VANDALS WRECK CAR

Bob Richards Quits Amateur Competition

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Rev. Bob Richards, who has dominated the sport of pole vaulting for nearly a decade, is giving up amateur competition for a television career.

Richards, 31, will appear as host on a half-hour weekly sports show to be carried by the ABC network. The first show is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 3.

The two-time Olympic pole vault champion, an ordained minister in the Church of the Brethren, said he will continue his preaching and lecture tours.

Lisbon School Board To Let Coal Contract

LISBON — It is expected that the Lisbon School Board will award a contract for coal for the three village schools for the coming season at its meeting Tuesday evening.

Other routine business will be handled, according to Loren Early, Superintendent.
